About the institution

The Barcelona Clinical Research Foundation-August Pi i Sunyer Biomedical Research Institute (IDIBAPS) is a biomedical research centre of excellence, located on the Barcelona Clinic Campus and with a clear international focus.

The IDIBAPS research community includes over 2,000 professionals and a hundred multidisciplinary groups that carry out high-impact translational research aimed at addressing biological and clinical questions relevant to human health, as evidenced by the more than 1,500 original articles published each year that make the institution one of the main biomedical research centres in Spain.

The Clínic Campus offers a high-level research and innovation environment, which includes the Hospital Clínic of Barcelona, a referral hospital committed to care, research and teaching, which covers practically all medical and surgical specialties, plus the University of Barcelona's Faculty of Medicine and Health Sciences. The latter dates from 1843 and is today one of the most prestigious health sciences faculties in Spain and worldwide.

Since 2015, IDIBAPS has had HR Excellence in Research accreditation from the European Commission. It is a CERCA centre and is accredited as a Health Research Institute by the Carlos III Health Institute (ISCIII).

Job description

A Research assistant (graduate level) position is available in the laboratory of Dr. Guedan, focused on the development of next-generation cancer immunotherapies.

The successful candidate will contribute to a project aimed at enhancing the potency, functionality, and therapeutic efficacy of CAR-T cell therapies.

The research will involve the generation, expansion, and genetic engineering of CAR-T cells, alongside the application of advanced immunological and molecular techniques, including qPCR, ELISA, and flow cytometry.

The position also includes the design, execution, and analysis of both in vitro assays and in vivo studies using relevant preclinical animal models.

The candidate will be expected to independently design and execute experiments, rigorously analyze and interpret data, and contribute to the conceptual and technical advancement of CAR-T cell-based therapies within a highly collaborative and multidisciplinary research environment.

Required qualifications

- University degree in Biology, Biotechnology, Pharmacy, or Life Sciences.
- Master's degree in biomedical sciences.

Experience and knowledge

- Proven experience in molecular biology techniques, immunological assays (including ELISA and flow cytometry), and mammalian cell culture.
- Prior experience in gene editing technologies will be considered an advantage.
- A minimum of 5 years of demonstrated experience in cancer research is required. Experience with CAR-T cell therapy will be highly valued.
- Experience within the pharmaceutical industry will be considered a strong asset.
- The candidate should be highly motivated to acquire new technical skills and demonstrate excellent ability to work within a collaborative, multidisciplinary.
- Spanish and English.
